

The Swine Flu from an EMC2/Energetic Perspective

The following is a note from EMC2 sent out on April 28, 2009, followed by a few explanatory notes and also updates added (in green) September 2009:

An Urgent message from Stephen Lewis regarding the New Swine Flu

"As of Tuesday morning April 28, 2009 the (energetic) frequency of the new strain of the Swine Flu was found and added to the AIM program. It was found in San Francisco, Las Vegas, New York, Los Angeles, and Phoenix. *

The fact that the frequency found by Stephen is the same as what is in the news was verified by checking against both (photographs of) people who are known to have the new strain of Swine Flu as well as a microscopic slide of the (actual) new strain of Swine Flu.

By Tuesday afternoon the frequency of the Swine Flu was gone in the test subjects". (people in the above cities, who are on AIM, in whom he found the energetic frequency to be present this morning)

Related/my notes for both new and veteran AIMers:

This is a recombinant imbalance, meaning not found naturally, ie man-made and the result of two or more frequencies combining to create a new imbalance. In this case, it's 3 imbalances for which the balancing frequencies have individually been on AIM all along but not in this newly created recombined way.

Energetically, despite what everyone is telling us, it is not just H1N1. The balancing frequency for this energetic frequency was added to AIM on April 28 and is now used by anyone on AIM daily, as we are all exposed to the imbalance daily.

*A little history/detail so you know how these new man-made imbalances are "found" – then we'll continue explaining what this new frequency is and the impact it is having:

Most of you know that Stephen checks (the photos of) a number of people in a variety of cities (US and abroad) every morning (Rev Michael Beckwith in LA, several facilitators in various cities, and others), and himself, to see if anything new has been sprayed, ie, to see if any new man-made imbalances have been acquired (along with lots of "old" man-made stuff that we're exposed to daily). If something new is found, the balancing frequency(s) are added to the AIM trays that day. This has been the case for years. For a number of years, he found 3-7 new imbalances daily. That changed beginning on Memorial Day of 2008, when the first ever man-made cancer imbalance was found. As you've read in my e-mails, since then, he's found hundreds of new man made cancer imbalances (sometimes 2 or 3 new ones in a day, and some new viral imbalances but few other types – until this new "swine flu" imbalance. For those who like history, on my site, go to the AIM Program Details section and click on the Energetic Weather Report. You can read some of the things reported back in 2003 when man-made imbalances were on the rise and by 2005 so abundant that it became impossible to keep a daily log.

PLEASE dust off your copy of Sanctuary: The Path to Consciousness, or go to www.sanctuarylv.com, click on the Sanctuary – The EMC2 Story and read Epilogue 2. In the book, go to pages 199-202, where recombinant imbalances are discussed (also listed in the index in the book), particularly HIV, a hepatitis imbalance and a viral frequency that is harmless on its own, but when combined with the other two, served to create what you hear Stephen talk about a lot, the frequency of immune deficiency imbalance. This in turn caused every hereditary imbalance to become “active”, meaning that much closer to physical manifestation, within a year. This leads in to the discussion of biological age, also on those pages. Sanctuary was written in 1998 – the epilogue chapters in 1999. Life forces have been dropping ever since, from the high 90s back then, to .1 for most adults today (now .03 as of September 2009), hence the significance of the “swine flu” imbalance as identified energetically by Stephen is hugely significant.

The verification process mentioned by EMC2 above involved photos found online, along with the microscopic slide of the actual swine flu strain.

The 3 things that comprise the new energetic frequency as found by Stephen are Ebola Ivory Coast imbalance, Lentivirus imbalance and swine influenza imbalance. The latter is the least powerful component. Stephen adds that we’ve all had swine flu (H1N1), just as we’ve all had and reacquired many times chicken pox – and the “bird flu”. For an extra treat, I attached his infamous “The Chicken Has Landed” article, written when the bird flu was the hot topic in 2006. This should add another degree of comfort, at least for those on AIM.

The additional good news is that if you acquire the imbalance, you will select the balancing frequency for it, regardless of how long you’ve been on AIM, a day or 10 years. When you first begin on AIM, you start dealing with things most recently acquired. This new imbalance would be pretty recent ☺.

Update 9/4/09 – The imbalance EMC2 identifies as “Swine Flu” continues to be sprayed almost daily. Based upon Stephen checking as new participants come on AIM, this frequency is now present, on a chronic level, in those not on AIM. He has also checked the photos of several people, children and adults, who reportedly transitioned because of the Swine Flu. What he sees is that the SF was their “last straw”, and that the ultimate energetic cause of transition was a significant underlying hereditary imbalance, often a type of brain cancer imbalance. Low life forces, as measured in units of consciousness by EMC2, are an indication of the presence of energetic immune deficiency which means all hereditary imbalances are in an active state (no longer just dormant potentials for physical manifestations).

Many have asked if they “should” get vaccinated and if they do, if AIM would help them counter any negative things that may be present in the vaccine. We can no more advise you on that than we can or would advise you on consulting with your doctor, or whether AIM can help someone counter the effects of chemo. For me, I think like Kevin Trudeau, who considers AIM his health insurance of choice (along with many other things he does to care for himself). I am not (personally) at all concerned about the swine flu imbalance and I don't do needles. Seems to me that the media is talking about people taking an unproven vaccine for a flu strain that is quite different from what Stephen has energetically identified it to be. Given with the choice, I will always go with energetics versus the usually limited physical perspective. If you choose to get the vaccine, it is impossible to address any questions about the effects of doing that. If you are asking that question, it seems you already accept that it might not be that good for you. To know what negative things/imbances it might contain would require knowing exactly what is in it. For those not on AIM, yes, I do have a concern for them that is strengthened not only by swine flu but by the younger and younger ages at which people are transitioning. Indeed, it will be the “last straw” for many – even a simple cold can be with an already destroyed energetic immune system. I will also use common sense and continue to wash my hands, eat and drink well, etc.

Please share this information with anyone open to receiving it. With initial life forces at .1 (now commonly .03), the world needs many ambassadors willing to deliver our message of empowerment and self-responsibility in a world that sometimes seems out to keep us in fear and powerless victim mode.

It is my hope that you all find peace and comfort by continuing the things you find to be right and good for you, and in the knowing that you have an incredibly comprehensive tool, overseen by an incredibly devoted man, to empower you to select whatever balancing frequencies you need so that you can do your work of self-healing 24/7. For those of you who've been on AIM long enough, that life force of 100 is a measure of a vastly greater healing capacity resulting from removing hereditary imbalances. Be glad you've done the work, and have been willing to face what was previously hidden. Continue to choose to elevate your consciousness, fully utilizing all the enhancing frequencies on AIM, especially when the abundance of unconsciousness seems to magnify around you.

For more updates on frequencies, tune in to the Everything is Energy Show every Thursday at 9 AM PST, online at www.talkshoe.com - enter 1329 in the search box, or dial 724-444-7444, then enter 1329#. If you have questions, e-mail them to me in advance and I will do all I can to assure they are addressed by Stephen. This is the best way to stay current on new frequencies and to really understand our own unique healing process and how everything we choose to do, or not to do, plays a part in the rate and extent to which we heal ourselves, and ultimately, the extent to which we elevate our consciousness. The latter is a choice we must make. Selecting the swine flu balancing energy is a matter of survival – no effort needed there to select the tool and then self-heal it.

For “Energetic Weather Report” enthusiasts who would like a little history on what has transpired regarding man-made imbalances over the past 6-7 years, click on the AIM Program Details section, then the Energetic Weather Report page at www.sanctuarylv.com. And as a final treat, a great article from May 2006 which discusses another type of flu.

THE CHICKEN HAS LANDED

by Stephen Lewis
May 2006

I've been asked to write an article on the energetic implications of the avian flu (H5N1). Before I do so, I believe there are some open issues that must be resolved.

What happened to Anthrax, and SARS? How about the invasion of the prairie dogs? Where are Jimmy Hoffa... and Judge Crater? Are there yet more turkeys or little chickens waiting in the Bush?

Now, these questions may, at first glance, appear to be unrelated; however, almost nothing could be further from the truth. In fact, if one persists in maintaining that conclusion, it would be indicative of a small, underdeveloped hologram, one of insufficiently quantumized consciousness.

Consider this: Anthrax and Sars are currently cohabitating with their pet prairie dog...on an estate of undisclosed location supplied by Jimmy Hoffa and Judge Crater. One by one, the pieces fit together, and now, at last, we can see how they are all connected!!!?

Furthermore, I have it from the usual relibumous* source that they plan to invite the avian flu (H5N1) to join them. Now we know the facts behind the story on page one: THE CHICKEN ALWAYS COMES FIRST!!!?

I do not wish to trivialize this problem. It's quite possible H5N1 will prove to be fatal to all those ready to die. By that, I mean those with an immune system so compromised that anything can be the “last straw”. The obvious catch is this: almost everything and anything may prove to be fatal to those ready to die.

The point is this: there are flu epidemics every year...chicken, egg, blue, H5N1, H1N1, H2N5, Hong Kong, Asian, English, Russian, etc. Subsequently, of course, there are those who succumb every year - but, THEY ARE THE WEAK...THE IMMUNOCOMPROMISED. ANYTHING COULD HAVE BEEN THEIR "LAST STRAW". To blame their deaths on their particular flu is to falsely empower a mundane and relatively innocuous imbalance that thousands of others acquire and overcome with barely a missed day of work.

We would be well advised to remember what the "last straw" means. If an animal is burdened to the absolute limit of its ability, and you add one more straw and the animal collapses, it would be inappropriate to say, " I gave it one lousy piece of straw and it quit on me". It is the logical successor to saying, "I had scrambled eggs this morning and then I had a car accident. I'll never have them again."

Similarly, if one has a brain imbalance and faints in the bathtub and drowns, would it be accurate to state the cause of demise was "death by water"? If so, what advice would you offer? "Try not to bathe, but, if you must, DON'T BATHE ALONE." I can see a potential burgeoning business here, "Outcall Bathing Buddies. We keep you clean, safe and happy".

I invite you to imagine this: a bunch of diseases having an Energetic Toxicity Tournament, with one objective in mind, one lottery prize...The Energetic Genocide Trophy, Class A-Natural .

Now, this being a quantum competition it has neither space or time limitations. Picture each dread disease stepping-up and "taking its best shot".

One by one, each scourge of mankind throughout history flexes its muscles: Anthrax, bubonic plague, smallpox, the 1918 influenza, ebola ... the results are always the same.

First, the weak are culled, thinning out the herd. After which, comes the real test: the effect of each disease on strong healthy people with intact immune systems.

Predictably, there is an initial staggering impact, almost-but-not-quite-bad-enough-to-be- fatal, followed by the inevitable comeback/recovery/second-wind. The disease recipient pulls himself up off the floor, clears his head, and overcomes the attacking imbalance. The disease frequency withdraws, knowing it failed in its one and only chance for the trophy.

In the future, each time it attacks, it will be recognized more quickly for what it is. It will be dealt with more readily, and disposed of with greater ease. It had its chance and will never again be able to be disguised.

Furthermore, its information is networked and passed on energetically, genetically, and quantumly. In the future, when it shows itself it will be identified and dealt with: "I remember you. It was 50 lifetimes or so ago, but I've got a great memory, and I still remember how to deal with you. I'm a survivor."

Some of you may have noticed that the tournament had a caveat. It was restricted to "naturally occurring imbalances. There is another, unrestricted tournament, "The Toxic Open" that allows anything, including man-made, artificially mutated or recombined imbalances. but, that's a whole 'nother article.

In summary, what are the energetic implications of the avian flu? Nothing you don't already know.

At this point, it's fairly obvious that I'm an optimist. Who would dare say otherwise?

* For those of limited vocabulary, "relibumous" means "reliable but anonymous", as opposed to, "veribumous", which means verified but anonymous, or, "reverbumous", which means reliable and verified, but...anonymous.

 Class A-Natural is restricted to diseases occurring in nature without human technological intervention or assistance.
